DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 13-38 and 45-54 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 5-17-2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, 6-9, 11, 12, 39 and 42-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Payne et al. '511.

Payne et al. '051 discloses the claimed invention of having a slot machine with a triangular display. Note that because the slot machine disclosed herein has 10 blocks, the triangular sections can overlap thus meet the limitations of claims 7 and 9. Also, the winline/payout lines meet the selector means of claim 8. Further, picking a payline meets picking a block within claim 12.

Claims 10 and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sesti et al. '456. Because Sesti et al. uses cards to facilitate game movement it meets the game of chance limitation and the table game limitation. As seen from the drawings in Sesti et al., its disclosure reads on the claim limitations within the instant claims in that the display is pyramid in shape.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35

Art Unit: 3713

U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2, 4, 5 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Payne et al. '511.

Re. claims 2 and 41: Absent a showing of criticality, these size, number of blocks and shape thereof limitations are design choices left to the inventor's discretion and thus are obvious to one skilled in the art.

Re. claims 4 and 5: Absent a showing of criticality, the theme of a game of chance is a design choice left to the inventor's discretion and thus obvious to one skilled in the art. This is further demonstrated by the plethora of prior art Applicant cited regarding these themes in other games within the art.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Examiner doesn't want to overburden the Applicant with multiple rejections for these very broad claims. The Applicant is encourage to read all of the prior art cited herein prior to amending the claims because alot of this prior art could be used to reject the instant overly broad claims. This is why the instant Examiner is citing all of this art and expects the Applicant to obtain copies thereof and read therefor.
